Read the passages about Alison and Barry and answer the questions. For each question, choose either A(Alison) or B(Barry). You need to choose each person more than once.

Marks Awarded

Alison (A)

I live in a beautiful village and I'm a dentist. I live with my mother and my sister. We live in a big, old house. I work four days a week. Sometimes I work on a Saturday but I have lots of free time. I love making cakes and cooking with my mum. Last summer I went on a holiday with some friends. We camped in the mountains and went swimming in the lake. I enjoyed it but I was happy to come home.

Barry (B)

I'm a teacher in Georgetown, which is a busy, small town. I live with my wife and two children. We live in a new house in the centre of the town. I work five days a week but never at weekends and I have lots of free time in summer. I like growing vegetables but I don't like cooking. In July, I always go on holiday with my family. We went to a small village by the sea last year. I want to move to a small village where it is quiet.

Look up!

Smombies is a new word that means 'smartphone zombies'. These are people who look at their smartphones when they are walking along the street. This is a problem. Every year people injure themselves because they aren't looking where they are going.

The word smombie comes from Germany, but the country with the worst smombie problem is South Korea. Almost half of the South Korean people use their phones when they're walking. Teenagers are bad, but the worst age group is from 25 to 35. In Seoul, you can get a phone app which turns off your phone when you start walking. There are huge signs on the ground, which tell smombies to 'look up'. In Beijing, China, there are two lanes on the pavement to walk along. One lane is for smombies and the other is for people without a phone. In Hawaii, if you cross the road and look at your phone, the police will ask you for money.

The German government has put lights on the pavement where walkers cross the road. The lights flash when a car is coming. In Austria, there are soft airbags around lampposts. This means that if people walk into them, they won't hurt themselves. Remember that if you use your phone, you must also remember to look up!

For questions 1-3, please answer in complete sentences. (2 marks each)

1. Why are smombies a problem?

2. Which country has the biggest problem with smombies?

3. In Seoul, what does the special phone app do?
