Marks Awarded

Adie (A)

I live in a nice, quiet part of the city with my wife and two young daughters. Our house is small with a large garden. I am a chef at an Italian restaurant. It isn't near my house so I always drive to work. On Saturdays I play basketball. I enjoy watching my favourite football team on the television, but I never play it myself. I like going to restaurants, but we eat at home on Sundays. I always make a big meal for everyone.

Bianca (B)

I am married and I live in a village with my husband, Geoff. We don't have any children, but we have three dogs. My house is big, but it has a little garden. I work on a farm not far from my house. I walk there every morning, but Geoff drives to work. I love football and I play for a village team every Saturday. We always eat out at my favourite restaurant on Sundays. I don't like cooking.

Pet Cafés

At a pet café you can buy a drink or meal and enjoy being with animals. Cat cafés are the most common, but some have dogs, rabbits, or even goats.

Cat cafés are popular in Asia because most of the population live in apartments where you cannot keep pets. For a small charge, it is possible to hold the cats. This helps the customers to feel relaxed. The first ever cat café opened in 1998. It was in Taipei in Taiwan and Japanese tourists enjoyed visiting it. Therefore, one opened in Osaka, Japan in 2004.

Thanks Nature is a sheep café in Korea that sells only coffee and desserts. It is quite expensive, but the chefs produce cakes shaped like sheep and you can buy coffee with a chocolate sheep's face on it. People from all over the world visit the café. There are two real sheep, William and Bentley, which live in an outside area where people feed them. In the summer, when it gets too warm for them, they do not stay at the café but move to a farm.

Some people aren't sure pet cafés are good for the animals, but a report showed that actually most people think these places look after the pets very well. The best ones provide enough space for the animals to be alone. This means they don't feel stress and they are happy.
